

FRESHMEN

Kennedy Van de Boe

Story by: Keirra Martin

Cosplaying has steadily risen in popularity over recent years. One glance at some of the costumes is all it takes to realize the effort and dedication that some people put in, whether that involves handcrafting or sourcing the perfect piece. Especially for 14-year-old freshman, Kennedy Van de Boe, who expresses her undeniably creative art intellect through the practice of cosplay. This art allows many individuals to express themselves through different works of fiction.

"I really started getting into it when I started talking to my friends, Max [Dressic] and Kayden [Schnathorst], so then they super got me into it," Van de Boe said.

Van de Boe started her journey of cosplaying through conversation and group effort. Almost an entire year later and practicing this creative process still plays a big part in Van de Boe's life.

She's learned a lot about herself ever since she started cosplaying. She's learned most importantly self-love.

"It lets out a new you," Van de Boe said. "It doesn't really change you, it just adds onto you. It lets you know that you can be yourself around other people without having to change yourself to go along with them."

SOPHOMORES

Jeremiah McGregor

Jeremiah McGregor, sophomore, is known as an aspiring rapper whose stage name is Lil Jay. He slowly started getting into making his own music in fifth grade because he started writing poetry. By eighth grade, he started turning them into songs.

So far he has written about 100 songs and he said by far his favorite one is "The Future Looks A Lot Better For Me." His biggest musical idols consist of a former student whose name is JJ Foster, and as far as famous people go, it would be Kendrick Lamar and Tupac. His biggest supporters have been his dad and the students and staff at North.

This year, McGregor has performed a few times at North. He performed along with two other students in a rap battle after school before winter break, and also performed at the Movement 515 assembly on Tuesday, Feb. 20 during Polar Bear Time. He has performed not only for the students, but also at parties. One party helped him become more popular, he said.

Catch him on his SoundCloud account at "LilJay_FromTheIA" if you want to listen to his music. Follow him on Snapchat at liljayfromtheia to stay connected with him.

Phuoc "Steven" Phu

Future med student, junior, Phuoc "Steven" Phu, has dreamed about being a doctor since a young age, but who knew this great opportunity would make him one step closer to his dream career? Phu got the opportunity to be a part of a program called Neuro-SMART through Central Campus while taking Microbiology class. It is a semester-long program, where qualifying high school students get the opportunity to participate in neuroscience research while earning college credit.

When asked about why he chose to take the program, Phu said, "I like neuroanatomy because it takes place in a medical school and is taught by a medical school professor. I chose to take it because I want a future career in medicine and I feel that getting my feet wet in a neuroanatomy class would further my knowledge and understanding of medicine. Phu also mentioned his favorite part about the program stating, "I like the aspect that neuroanatomy is challenging. There is a lot of information to learn for just one organ. The brain has many functions and it's a fun challenge to learn them all and try to retain everything."
