

DMPS District SCIENCE FAIR

On Thursday, February 8, 16 Science Bound students presented their research at the DMPS district science fair at the Science Center of Iowa

Sophomore
Nayely Velazquez

In the category of Earth and Environmental Science, Velazquez earned 1st place.

Sophomore
Akpobari Godpower

In the category of Consumer Science, Godpower earned 2nd place.

Junior
Juan Carlos Oropeza

In the category of Earth and Environmental Science, Oropeza earned 2nd place.

Junior
Jayda Anaya-Negrete

In the category of Consumer Science, Anaya-Negrete earned 3rd place.

Freshman
Cazia Stallings

In the category of Physical Science, Stallings earned 3rd place.

Sophomore
Aime Mukiza

In the category of Physical Science, Mukiza earned 2nd place.

A LITTLE INSIGHT. Local 67 Iron Workers visit the classroom of Flex Academy to talk about the work place they experience every day and to encourage it as a choice in their future that is fast approaching.

DAY 133: GOOD MORNING. Students wait in line to check out for breakfast. The cafeteria was serving peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, French toast sticks and a muffin with yogurt, which students have a choice of accompanying with juice and/or milk.

S
C
I
E
N
C
E

▶ FIZZLE. Junior, Isabel Camacho-Arias and Sophomore, Diamond Suah perform a science experiment while Senior, Andres Cortez spectates after school during a science bound meeting. Photo Courtesy: Jessica Lambert

Mason Liddle

Adventurous

...
9

BOUND FOR SUCCESS

▶ TEAMWORK. Senior, Yair Gomez, sophomore, Daisy Hernandez and juniors, Gabby Hernandez and Doris Garcia test what material of gloves best preserves the CO2 bubble. Photo Courtesy: Jessica Lambert

▶ SAY SCIENCE. Science Bound students pose for a photo before heading off to the District Science Fair at the Science Center of Iowa on Thursday, February 8, 2018. Photo Courtesy: Jessica Lambert

PIZZA FOR YOUR PARTY. Yearbook students, Kayden Watts, Megan Bohall and Laura Christensen get to start off the day with Casey's breakfast pizza as a little boost for deadline.

DAY 134: SIGN UP. I-JAG hosts various events for students to raise money for field trips and activities for the class, like to visit colleges. Many students enjoy the basketball video game NBA 2K18, so they hosted a fun, competitive tournament.