

Summer Snacks

Do you spend more money over the SUMMER or during the SCHOOL YEAR?

Choices, choices, choices! One hundred students interviewed during lunches voted on their favorite summer treats. Out of Tropical Sno, Dunkin' Donuts and Atomic Coffee, there could only be one winner. The battle was close, but Atomic barely came out on top.

"I probably spend more money on food during the school year because I go out for Open Campus." -Veronica Schreiner ('18)

"It's not surprising that Atomic won because it's just a fad." -Sam Saveraid ('20)

"I spend more money during the summer because there are more opportunities to shop with friends." -Nick Vazquez ('20)

"I spend an equal amount. Mostly I go to Dunkin' Donuts to get coffee." -Madison Devore ('19)

"I spend more money during school. I'm not really hungry over the summer." -Zaitha Burroughs ('21)

Treat Yourself From sandwiches to pastries, students always found something to enjoy over the summer. Jimmy John's and Hurts Donuts were popular choices among students looking for a quick bite to eat. "Jimmy John's is stupid fire. They be havin' that freaky fast delivery. That's wild. Follow me on Twitter @Jcoleiscorny," said Jack Jurgena ('18). (A. Lance)

"I went to Connecticut to see my dad's side of the family and we usually don't get to see them." -Anthony Mayuri ('21)

"One time I crashed my dad's car into a pole, and because he doesn't want me to drive his again, he's buying me my own once I turn 16." -Gehl Paran ('21)

The SWEET Taste Of Summer

Summer was time for sugar, spice and everything nice. Students often spent their summers relaxing with their favorite snacks in hand, and when the food couldn't come to them, they went to the food.

Every student had his or her favorite restaurant. From tacos to ice cream, there was always a restaurant for students to get their grub on. "My favorite restaurant is Los Primos because it's fire," said Kiejuan Guy ('20).

Although some liked Mexican flavors, others liked kicking their feet back with a steak burger, fries and milkshake. "I went to Steak 'n Shake the most this summer. I went with my baseball team," said Donald Jestel ('19). Alone or with friends, great restaurants made the summer nights memorable.

"My favorite ice cream is Mississippi Mud from Whitey's because it has all my favorite things like chocolate and caramel."
-Jaylan Coble ('20)

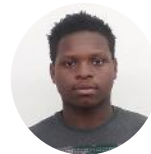

Students enjoy local eats over summer break

Some students could easily name their favorite summer spots to eat, but others couldn't make up their minds. Choosing just one restaurant could be difficult for those who enjoyed several different types of meals. "I don't have a favorite place to eat because I'm not very picky when it comes to food," said Naomi Puentes ('21).

Sometimes, students just needed a cold dessert to satisfy their need for a sweet treat. Ice cream was a go-to for many, including Jaylan Coble ('20), who said, "My favorite ice cream is Mississippi Mud from Whitey's because it has all my favorite things like chocolate and caramel, and it tastes like coffee."

Sweet treats can always make someone's day, but sometimes students preferred those hotter foods. Spicy meals were always able to satisfy anyone brave enough to eat them. "I love spicy foods. I go to Azteca to get their food because I like it," said Charleigh Lennox ('21).

After a summer full of good food, students were ready to once again hit the books. Although it seemed short, delicious food made the taste of summer last a little longer. (C. Wheeler and A. Lance)
