Sophomores, James Colbert, Dakota Collier, Moises Sarceno-Mata, and Grady Garcia started a YouTube channel back in July 2022 just for fun as of right now. They are wanting more followers before taking it seriously, “just for fun for now if we get more subscribers then we will start taking it serious,” Colbert says. The channel is called DGJM Productions. The channel originated from an idea Colbert had. “James brought it up and we thought it was a good idea,” Garcia states.

The channel currently has “a whopping 88 loyal subscribers,” Garcia exclaims. The targeted audience DGJM Productions aims for is not specific, “we target every age group,” Sarceno-Mata says. As of right now the videos that DGJM Productions film are on a phone. “We currently use a phone, but we’re looking forward into buying a good quality camera.” states Collier.

The type of videos DGJM Productions film are not anything particular, they like to have fun with it and switch it up. “We post anything for real, usually when we are all together and doing something fun,” Garcia says. The video that has the most views on their channel right now is a video of them at The Mall of America. “It’s just mostly about what we got from the mall and what we did all day,” Collier says. These boys have been friends for a long time. “We have been friends for three years, but me and Dakota have been friends since kindergartion,” Garcia adds.

Make sure you subscribe to their YouTube channel, DGJM Productions, and show them some support. “Subscribe to our YouTube channel,” Collier exclaims.
